Clariden Leu Appoints New Head Asia

Singapore, March 16, 2009 – Clariden Leu, one of Switzerland's leading private banks, has appointed Jimmy Lee Kong Eng as new Head Asia.

The Swiss private bank Clariden Leu has appointed Jimmy Lee Kong Eng as new Head Asia. Jimmy Lee Kong Eng is very well acquainted with the Asian market and has extensive knowledge of wealth management. For the last four and half years he was Head of Private Wealth Management South East Asia / South Asia at Deutsche Bank in Singapore, where he led a team of over 150 employees. Prior to this he spent more than six years as Regional Market Director South Asia / Australasia / International Wealth Management at Credit Suisse Private Banking in Singapore and earlier as Head of Private Banking Coutts Bank Schweiz AG in Singapore. Previously he also worked as a private banker at J.P. Morgan and Swiss Bank Corporation (later UBS) – all in all he has more than 20 years of experience in the finance industry.

"Our new Head Asia, Jimmy Lee Kong Eng, is a very experienced private banker with a remarkable track record", says Erich Pfister, Head of the Middle East & Asia division. "Together with his team, he will drive forward the implementation of our growth strategy in Asia." Stefan Hausherr, Head Operations Asia and currently Head Asia on an interim basis, will remain Head Operations and Branch Manager Singapore.
